

District Governor's Letter

Our Mission Statement lives at the core of who we are as members of the National Association of Teachers of Singing (NATS). By inviting voice teachers, students, collaborative pianists, educators, arts administrators, voice scientists and others to join NATS, we are indeed promoting the growth of our field. "Our efforts are to encourage the highest standards of the vocal art and of ethical principles in the teaching of singing and to promote vocal education and research at all levels, both for the enrichment of the general public and for the professional advancement of the talented". Members of NATS touch the lives of countless people who benefit such as students, choral singers and music lovers. By growing NATS membership, we are allowing the power of singing to have more opportunities to transform lives. Guidelines are established by the Association to outline members' ethical duties and obligations to students, to colleagues to the general public, to promote professional cooperation and productive relationships among its members. As voice teachers we have a wonderful opportunity to share our love of music and singing with our students and beyond. On September 22nd three of our members John Wesley Wright, Jennifer Randall, & Brian Lee gave presentations through "MDDC Unleashed" during our Fall Workshop. From business principles, vocal assessment to creative vocal programs in prisons and the community each shared the joy, love and passion within who they are as teachers.

I encourage you to join us in the effort to welcome 'All Hands-on Deck' as we move forward with the mission and ethical principles as a guide changing lives through the power of vocal music and the arts.

NATS for A Lifetime

A showcase of members who have been members of NATS for 25 years or more.

“These stories stand as a tribute to their professional achievements and contributions to their NATS chapters and to their communities. Perhaps their inspiring lives are well-known to their chapter colleagues but are not so well-known beyond these boundaries. These articles are a means of making the general NATS membership aware of these outstanding individuals so that they may, too, find inspiration in their stories.”
